Re: Harassment of Beverley Schottenstein

Dear Mr. Schottenstein:

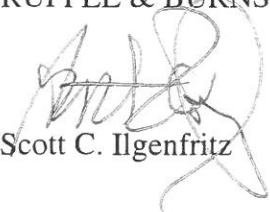

As you know, this law firm and I represent your mother, Beverley Schottenstein, in the FINRA arbitration case against JPMorgan Securities, LLC, and your two sons, Evan and Avi Schottenstein.

Over the last several months, Mrs. Schottenstein and her caregiver, Dawn Henry, have reported to me repeated incidents of harassment of Mrs. Schottenstein and Ms. Henry by you, your wife, and your two sons. You are hereby directed that you are to have no further contact whatsoever with Mrs. Schottenstein or Ms. Henry. If Mrs. Schottenstein or Ms. Henry reports to me that you have any further contact with either of them, all instances of your and your family members' previous harassment of Mrs. Schottenstein will be reported to the Bal Harbour Police Department with a request that an officer of that department pay you a visit. Should you or another member of your family fail to heed this directive to have no further contact with Mrs. Schottenstein and Ms. Henry, there could be serious adverse consequences for you or the member of your family who initiates contact with Mrs. Schottenstein or Ms. Henry.

PLEASE GOVERN YOURSELVES ACCORDINGLY.

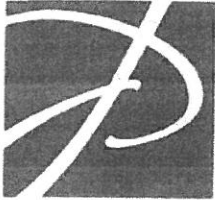

Sincerely,

JOHNSON, POPE, BOKOR,

Re: Beverley B. Schottenstein v. J.P. Morgan Securities, LLC, et al.

Dear Jon:

I write this letter to demand that you instruct your clients, Evan Schottenstein and Avi Schottenstein, to cease contacting or attempting to contact Beverly Schottenstein or Dawn Henry. On June 5, 2020, Mrs. Schottenstein reported to me that on June 5, 2020, while Ms. Henry was out running errands, Avi Schottenstein repeatedly rang the doorbell for the back door of Mrs. Schottenstein's condominium and then began banging loudly on the back door. Mrs. Schottenstein did not know who was at her back door, but believed that it might be a member of the security staff for her condominium. She opened the back door and Avi Schottenstein was there and pushed his way into Mrs. Schottenstein's condominium, saying his older brother, Isaac, was dead. That statement was shocking and extremely upsetting to Mrs. Schottenstein. Avi Schottenstein later admitted that his statement was false and that Isaac was in the hospital. Avi Schottenstein refused to leave Mrs. Schottenstein's condominium and repeatedly requested that she drop her arbitration case. Mrs. Schottenstein told Avi Schottenstein that she would do no such thing and after several minutes, Avi Schottenstein left Mrs. Schottenstein's condominium as she had repeatedly requested.

In addition, on June 5, 2020, Evan Schottenstein called Dawn Henry on her cell phone two times. He repeatedly requested that Mrs. Schottenstein drop her arbitration case.

Your clients' conduct is unconscionable and it must cease. They are clearly attempting to put psychological pressure on Mrs. Schottenstein to drop her valid and serious claims against them and J.P. Morgan Securities, LLC. Please direct your clients to cease telephoning Ms. Henry and to not have any contact whatsoever with Mrs. Schottenstein or Ms. Henry. If your clients continue their campaign to try to pressure their grandmother to drop her arbitration case, complaints will be filed with the appropriate legal authorities.

Please contact me if you have any questions or comments.
